More Electronic Journals for 2009

The Library staff strives to provide electronic access to information in keeping with the HSC's MVV. As a part of that effort, more journals have been converted to electronic subscriptions for 2009, including (but not limited to) the following:

Academic Medicine
American Journal of Nursing
Analytical Biochemistry
Annals of the Rheumatic Diseases
Biochemistry
Cell
Current Opinion in Pulmonary
Medicine
Journal of the American College of Cardiology
Journal of Molecular Biology
Journal of Nursing Administration
Medicine
Nursing
Nursing Management
Obstetrics & Gynecology
Thrombosis and Haemostasis
Tuberculosis

Links for these journals are being added or updated in the Library's systems as needed. Labels indicating the change in status of these journals have also been affixed to the slanted journal display shelves. Residual print issues will continue to come in for the next few months as the publishers adjust to the change in format.

Quick View of Images in EBSCOhost Databases

EBSCO has added a Quick View feature that allows viewing of images appearing in articles in over 9000 of EBSCOhost's aggregated journals.

When searching an EBSCOhost database such as CINAHL or Academic Search Complete, "thumbnail" (miniaturized) images will appear beneath article citations if Quick View images are available for that journal. Click on a "thumbnail" image to see it full-size. You can even limit a search to only those articles that include images that are viewable with Quick View. (Other articles containing images still have images within the full text of the articles themselves, but not via Quick View.)

Thank You

The Library appreciates the recent support of the following patrons:
