How to use our Library

Ordering articles (3 options):

1. For those whose hospitals have a Library Services Agreement with us, contact your hospital contact (i.e., Medical Education Coordinator) with article citations to order or with requests for information searches.
2. The Loansome Doc ordering system is available to those wishing to order their own articles. It is accessed through PubMed (MEDLINE) and does have an initial free registration. Contact the Wise Research Library for instructions on how to register or on how to use PubMed or Loansome Doc. Or see http://www.nlm.nih.gov/loansomedoc/loansome_home.html for more information.
3. Contact the Wise Medical Research Library directly with article or information search requests. Please include your name, institution, and contact information on any faxed or emailed correspondence.

Online Journals:

1. Go to our web page (<http://library.uthct.edu>).
2. Click on “Journals & Other Publications” (on left side bar).
3. Click on “UTHCT Electronic Journals”.
4. Browse journals alphabetically.
5. Unfortunately, most publishers do not allow us to grant you access since you are not on the UTHCT campus. However, there are some that offer Free access (look for the notation by the journal name).
6. Also, free Web Journals are listed on the Library’s Outreach Page, found at <http://library.uthct.edu/outreach.htm>.

Free Online Information Resources:

1. Go to our web page (<http://library.uthct.edu>).
2. Click on “Information Resources on the World Wide Web” (on left side bar).
3. Click on “Health Science Resources” or browse through any of the subjects.
4. Click on “Professional Health Science Information Resources” for a lengthy list of online resources.
